

W. G. Ogg's Suicide Is Shock To Friends

nic grounds at Kanukupili, about half a mile on the Kau side of the old Half-Way House (Dollaway's) they saw an automobile in a dense grove of ohia trees. Turning in to investigate, they found it was the plantation car. Lying alongside it was the body of Mr. Ogg shot through the mouth with a thirty-two caliber automatic revolver, which was discovered close alongside.

Was Formerly Of Maui

Mr. Ogg was a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, coming to the Islands in 1888 with James Gibb, who is now manager of the Honolulu Plantation on Oahu. He worked first as a petty luna on the Paila Plantation, but advanced rapidly as his exceptional qualities came to be recognized. He was one of the head lunsas of the Wailuku Sugar Company, for some years, before he was promoted to the place on Hawaii which he held at the time of his death. He was known and liked by a wide circle of friends on this island. He was a member of Aloha Lodge, K. of P. of Maui. He was married in 1893 to a Miss Campbell. The couple had no children.

The body was taken to Honolulu where the funeral services took place last Saturday afternoon at the home of John Watt, on Thurston Avenue. The services were conducted by the Rev. Henry P. Judd, of the Hawaiian Mission. Interment was in the Nuanu cemetery. The funeral was largely attended.

Bishop Restarick Conducts Services At Church Of The Good Shepherd

The Rt. Rev. Henry Bond Restarick, D. D., Bishop of Honolulu made a visitation to the Church of the Good Shepherd, on Sunday last. He confirmed a class presented by the Rector, in the morning at 7:30, before celebrating the Holy Communion at 8 o'clock. He was also the preacher at the 11 o'clock service of Morning Prayer, at which there was a large congregation. Taking for his text the words: "A certain man had two sons" (Luke, 15, 11), the Bishop preached a helpful sermon on the sins typified by the conduct both of the elder son and of the younger son, in the familiar parable of "The Prodigal Son". Sin could exist, he said in the self-righteous life, as well as in the life abandoned to vicious habits. While the younger brother in the parable, was self-indulgent, the older brother exemplified cold-blooded selfishness. Both were in need of redeeming grace; the one sought it, the other refused it—to his loss.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTER

Island eggs made the first advance in several weeks and are now selling for 55 cents a dozen. The supply does not equal the demand even at this price. Muscovy ducks are still very plentiful and unless they are sold soon the price is likely to drop lower.

Island potatoes received now are not as good as those which first came to the market and the price has dropped to $1.50 and $1.60. Pumpkins have made a slight advance.

The Division can now handle several head of good fat hogs weighing between 150 and 200 pounds per week, also some heavier stock at cheaper prices. The Division would also like to hear from any producer having any mutton for sale.

There have been very few changes in the feed prices during the week and most of these that have been made, however, have increased the cost to the users. The demand for small island corn is still very good and even the large corn is bringing excellent prices.

During the past several months the Division has been having considerable trouble paying consignors promptly for produce sold, due to losses incurred in trying to relieve the small pineapple growers last year. This trouble has now been overcome and consignors can expect to get their returns probably by the 10th and not later than the 15th of the month following the date of sale. With this assurance of prompt return it is expected that the number of consignors and the gross sales will be greatly increased in the near future. Even with the slow returns which the Division has been forced to make the business of the small farmer has increased rapidly. The present month promises to be the best in the history of the Division.

Marketing Superintendent.

TELEGRAPH NEWS OF THE WEEK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—With both sides grim with determination, the nation faces shortage in food supplies if strike occurs next Monday morning. Government control of food supplies is possible if roads are unable to carry supplies and it becomes evident that in large cities and elsewhere people are threatened with famine. Already in many cities canvassed by municipal authorities, both sides are preparing for the strike which is ordered for Monday, Sept. 4, at 7 o'clock. Men getting ready to quit and railroads will continue operation with strike breakers if possible. President Wilson is attempting to persuade brotherhoods to postpone strike or rescind order altogether until Congress has time to act. He points out that Congress will enact such legislation as will safeguard interests of the men. Leaders say that no power on earth can avert strike unless demand for 8 hour day is acceded to. Many railroads today declare embargoes on perishable freight. Thousands of tons of shipments refused under orders of traffic managers of roads. Roads also warning passengers that there may be trouble from delay unless they arrive at destination on or before Sunday night. Passengers buying tickets calling for trips taking them into Monday are told that speedy arrival at destination cannot be guaranteed.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 29—King Ferdinand ordered general mobilization of army and Rumania is feverishly plunging into preparations for conflict. Enthusiasm everywhere running high. Causes that led Rumania to war given out. Crown council declares original triple alliance to which Rumania was party through treaty of 1884, negotiated by Bismarck, was broken when Italy declared war against Austria. Statement goes on to declare that Austria-Hungary threatened the interests and national aspirations of Rumania. Assurance that Austria was inspired by spirit of conquest in attacking Serbia were not fulfilled. Rumania confronted with territorial changes menacing her future. Rumanians in Hungary suffered oppression. Considering all this Rumania decided to hasten end of war and thus safeguard her racial interests.
